QSL NAMED ONE OF CANADA'S MOST ADMIRABLE CORPORATE CULTURES

Québec City, November 26, 2020 – QSL is proud to be named one of Canada's Most Admired Corporate Cultures for 2020. These national awards are presented by Waterstone Human Capital Management to recognize companies with a culture that optimizes performance and sustains a competitive advantage.

“We are honored to be included on the nomination list for an award that recognizes the exceptional work done by the entire QSL team. It is a unique opportunity to be able to rely on an experienced team that allows us to meet challenges and increase our performance. This results-oriented culture is a major asset to continue our growth. We are confident that this is just the beginning for QSL, which has been innovating for over 40 years!” says Robert Bellisle, President and CEO of QSL.

Mr. Bellisle, who took over the reins of the company three years ago, committed to making this Quebec flagship the North American benchmark in marine terminal, stevedoring and transportation operations. He is supported by a team of more than 2,000 employees for whom health, safety, innovation, team spirit and an enjoyable workplace are priorities.

The daily dedication of the team that is ready to adapt to any situation has enabled QSL to win several honours this year. In addition to be named one of Canada’s most admired corporate cultures for 2020, QSL received a Canada's Best Managed Companies award and won an Innovation award at the most recent ADRIQ Gala for the integrated management system that its information technology team developed in collaboration with Vooban.

QSL was also a finalist in the The Aces of Finance in addition to be nominated for two awards at the Élixir Contest to be held on December 7th.

“At QSL, we have only one mode and that is the solution mode. I am always impressed by our team's ability to solve complex problems by developing concrete solutions. The marine supply chain is a critical sector for the North American economy and we are proud to contribute to it with our constant efforts to exceed our limits by always keeping our promise: tailor-made success,” added Mr. Bellisle.
